

I. INTRODUCTION

Acharya N.G. Ranga Agricultural University (ANGRAU) was established on 12th June 1964 under the APAU act 1963. The mandate of the university is to generate manpower for agriculture and allied fields (Education), develop technologies for improvement in agriculture and home Science (Research) and enlighten the farmers on new farm technologies (Extension).

The Veterinary and Horticulture components which were originally with ANGRAU got delinked with the formation of separate universities of their own in the year 2005 and 2006 respectively.

The University is governed by a Board of Management comprising of 21 members headed by the Vice-Chancellor. The Vice-Chancellor is supported by University Officers viz., Registrar, Dean of Agriculture, Dean of Home Science, Director of Research, Director of Extension, Dean of PG Studies, Dean of Student Affairs, Comptroller, Estate Officer and the University Librarian in University management.

The academic affairs of the University are governed by the Academic Council and respective Faculty Boards led by the Vice-Chancellor. The Research and Extension services are guided by the Research and Extension Advisory Council (REAC) and State Level Coordination Committee (SLCC).

The Registrar has the responsibility of university administration. The Deans of Faculties are responsible for the organization and activities in the concerned faculty. The Director of Research coordinates the planning and execution of research by the University. The Director of Extension is responsible for formulating and functioning of university extension services.

The Dean of Student Affairs looks after the students welfare measures. The Estate

Officer is responsible for civil works and maintenance of University buildings and lands. The Comptroller looks after university budget and financial matters. The University Librarian maintains all the campus libraries and organizes their services.

The academic and administrative matters of the constituent colleges are looked after by the respective Associate Deans whereas the Associate Directors of Research have the responsibility of planning and implementing the research programme of work in their concerned zone.

ANGRAU has undergraduate and postgraduate programmes of study in agriculture and home science; only undergraduate programme in Agricultural Engineering, Commercial Agriculture and Business Management and Food Science and Technology only postgraduate programmes in Agri. Business Management, Agricultural Biotechnology and Environmental Science and Technology. The University offers two year diploma courses in Telugu for rural students who passed 10th class.
